PROFESSION Sellsword TRAITS Savage and proud of it. He adept at violence and looks for any excuse to use it. He wears a skull like a satchel as a way to intimidate those around him. Despite that, he is also surprisingly well-mannered for a lizardfolk sellsword and treats his current employer with great deference. IDEALS Believes stongly that magic users should heavily restricted and monitored. He avoids them whenever possible. BONDS He holds true to his contract as a sellsword, but little else. SECRETS His mistrust of magic users runs very deep. He was once enslaved by a powerful gnome wizard. The markings on his face and neck are brands of his former master. Ekgos managed to orchestrate his death after years of service and now wears the wizard's skull as a trophy.
